Save for higher education, save on taxes with my529

Qualify for tax credits or deductions with contributions by the end of 2022

(Salt Lake City) Investing for your beneficiary's future with my529, Utah's educational savings plan, can provide a significant gift that lasts beyond the holidays. When you contribute to a my529 educational savings account before the end of the year as a Utah taxpayer, you can qualify for a tax credit or deduction.

my529 account owners can claim a 4.85% Utah state income tax credit for 2022 tax year contributions. The tax credit is for each qualified beneficiary. The tax credit applies to contributions up to $2,130 for single filers, trusts, and corporations, or $4,260 for joint filers and grantor trusts that file as married filing jointly. Account owners may contribute more but will not receive a tax credit for contributions greater than these caps. It is not too late to open an account and begin. (See my529.org for details and deadlines.)

Also, if someone else contributes to the account, the account owner is the individual who is eligible for the tax credit. Friends or family can easily make contributions through the my529 Gift Program. Visit gift.my529.org for more information.

Utah state income tax credits are one of the tax advantages of a my529 account. Earnings on investments in a my529 account grow tax-deferred. Withdrawals are free from federal and Utah state income taxes when used for qualified education expenses, such as tuition, fees, books, supplies, computers and even internet access for the beneficiary.

Funds can be used at any eligible educational institution—college, university or technical college—in the United States or abroad that is qualified to participate in federal student aid programs. Learn more at my529.org.
